Mayor Flannigan states that he feels the State does a good job of making sure the taxing entities do not get a big windfall. There was recently a letter to the editor in the newspaper from a city resident regarding real estate and personal property taxes. She only went back to 2017 with her research. If she had gone back five more years she would have gotten a different picture. By voter approval, the City's maximum levy for water is .55 and for general revenue is .45. This year the tax rates are being proposed as .4537 and .2318. Both rates are less than they were last year. There are no public present for comments or questions. Mark Spence makes a motion to adjourn the public hearing. Cody Quist seconds the motion. All are in favor.

Mayor Flannigan asks if anyone wants to make a motion to waive this disconnect fee. No motion is made.
